In one of the mountain passes a small village commanding the pass was taken and retaken eight times during desperate artillery, infantry and hand-to-hand fighting.

Gorizia was shelled heavily, and what remained of what the correspondent saw there just a week ago today was further reduced to a mass of debris. One of the main bridges from Gorisia across the Isonso was blown up by the Italians, and the enemy movement thus was further impeded.

As depots and arsenals were blown up the whole sky was lighted with a fed glare and dense masses of smoke formed in an enormous pall like the approach of an equinoctial cyclone. Added to the fearful din and heavy shell fire on front and flank was the continuous explosion of powder supplies as the Italians slowly fell back screened by a rear guard of a Bersaglieri brigade, which threw up hasty breastworks and contested every foot of the way.

The heaviest pressure began to be felt on the Carso front Friday. The Austrians then increased their bombardment to deafening intensity and supplemented this with huge volumes of poison gas and tear shells. The humid air and a light wind permitted great waves of the deadly gas to creep low toward the Italian lines, the rear guards protecting themselves with masks and by hiding in caverns.

STRONG VIEWS ARE VOICED

Washington musical circles today wer stirred over the fact that Dr. Karl Muck, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, who refused to permit the or chestra to play "The Star Spangled Banner" in Providence, R. "There isn't a well known orchestra in the country, or an opera company which has not Germans in its ranks," said Mrs. Greene. "I am a patriotic American citisen, but I think that in an artistic matter of this kind we should not be led away from the right conception. It has not been the custom for the symphony orchestra to play "The Star Spangled Banner in the past, and I do not know why such a demand should be made now."

However, some of the subscribers to the orchestra seats did not take the view of Mrs. Greene today and were strong in their condemnation of Dr. Muck's stand.

NEW YORK. November 2.-The dis-

NEW YORK. November 2.—The disturbance, which began with the refusal of Dr. Karl Muck to permit the Boston Symphony Orchestra to play the national anthem on Tuesday night at Providence, R. I., has by no means submided. The apparent intention of Maj. Henry L. Higginson, founder of the orchestra, to back up Dr. Muck and the purported e planations by Dr. Muck himself only helghtened the indignation of all Americans.

"It has come to a pretty pass," they said, "when American audiences must be told by a German music master that they can't hear The Star Spangled Banner' at this critical time."

At the office of Carnegie Hall it was said that no orders had been received for cancellation of the concert here on Thursday of the Boston orchestra, led by Dr. Muck; that all seats for the season had been sold, and that Dr. Muck's orchestra would play at Washington, Baltimore and Philladelphis before coming here. Many predicted that the mayora of those cities and perhaps of New York might follow the precedent set by Mayor James M. Curley of Boston in forbidding the orchestra to play in the city unless the program, was opened with the national anthem

Damrosch Defends Muck.

"It seems to me that it would be an injustice to Dr. Muck to expect him to conduct The Star Spangled Banner in this country at the present time. He is a loyal citizen of Prussia and is in this country not by his own desire, but at the request of Maj. Higginson, patron of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, who is an American of undoubted loyalty, and who certainly would not ask Dr. Muck to act as conductor of the orchestra if he were not absolutely sure of Dr. Muck's personal honor and discretion in this very trying situation. "I should think that the issue that has been raised could be met easily if the orchestra would play "The Star Spangled Banner" under the direction of an assistant conductor. I cannot see what purpose could be gained by endeavoring to force Dr. Muck to do so."

The New York Metropolitan Opera Company this year will not produce any German operas, it has been an-nounced. Patriotic motives, it was said have caused the directors of the opera to put a ban upon German music at this time.
